

- 15 -

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A semiconductor memory device having a plurality of memory cells of uniform and reliable characteristics is disclosed. The memory device comprises at least one array of memory cells arranged in matrix form of rows and 5 columns and a selection circuit for accessing at least one of the memory cells, and is featured by a plurality of dummy cells arranged along all the peripheries of the array so as to surround the array.